

GOVERNOR STANLEY HERE
Governor A. O. Stanley bowed in on C. & O. train No. 5 yesterday morning for a few minutes' stay and a hearty handshake with those Mayavilleans who met him. He was en route to Carlisle from Paducah, on a Red Cross speaking tour. Col. T. L. Wood, Hon. Stanley A. Reed and Major A. Gordon Butler took care of the genial Governor while here and saw to it that he got plenty of ice water. He left later with Mr. Reed for Carlisle, where they spoke yesterday afternoon as it is a little late to announce it, but better late than never, we are glad the Governor came and extend to him a hearty invitation to return and pay us a longer visit.

Mr. Forman Gels of Brookville, Ind., is here visiting relatives. He leaves for Camp Taylor next Saturday. His brother, Frank, enlisted in the Medical Corps and is at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Mo. They are sons of Mr. Adam Gels formerly of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Welburn and Mr. Stanley Lee of Lexington, were the guests of Miss Lucy Lee, Saturday and Sunday.

SPLENDID ADDRESS
Was That Delivered By Mrs. Ida McGilson at the First Baptist Church Saturday Evening— Pays Wonderful Tribute to American Red Cross.

The meeting at the First Baptist Church Saturday evening was opened by a short talk by Hon. J. N. Kehoe, who at the conclusion of his speech introduced Mrs. Ida McGilson, Gibson to the audience.

Since the beginning of the great war Mrs. Gibson has been correspondent for a Washington newspaper and has been in constant touch with the European situation. The past winter, she has been abroad, in England and France where she acquired an intimate knowledge of the great work that the American Red Cross is doing. She returned home a few months ago and has been touring the country as Publicity Agent for the Red Cross, giving her services free for the cause.

Mrs. Gibson is one of the finest speakers that have been here and true Irish as she was, she moved the audience to tears one minute and laughter the next. She pointed out that with the exception of those who have given up a brother, husband or child to the service, the majority of us have made no sacrifice for the cause of humanity, country or home. The government will not accept a personal gift from anyone and the only means we have of aiding is through the Red Cross, the only constructive contingent that has ever worked hand in hand with a destructive contingent since history began.

The meeting was closed by the singing of "America" by the audience and the benediction.

UNION CONSUMMATED
Between the First and Central Presbyterian Churches of This City Yesterday Morning.

The Reunion of the First and Central Presbyterian Churches attracted a large congregation of members and citizens yesterday.

After the usual devotional exercises the pastor preached a short sermon from the words, "Receive Ye One Another, as Christ Also Received Us to the Glory of God."

After this the session of the church, made up of the entire audience, when Mr. James B. Wood on the part of the Central Presbyterian Church presented the letters of dismission from their Presbytery with some beautiful words of greeting from the Commissioners.

The session thereupon received the members, the congregation of First Church rising to greet them and "Blest be the tie that binds" being sung heartily by the entire audience.

A congregational meeting was then called, when the names of the elders and deacons of the Central Presbyterian Church were presented and they were unanimously decided as officers in the church.

After other exercises and appropriate hymns the Union was constituted and the services concluded with general greetings and felicitations for the future.

It was a happy day in the history of both churches now made one. The spirit is very fine and with the large membership and many experienced workers great good should be done in the community. Thus a breach of fifty years is healed.

It should be understood however, that the original separation did not grow out of local dissensions, but out of the general agitation in the nation and the churches rising out of the war.

The Central Church has done a great work. In addition to building a beautiful modern church and supporting their work here vigorously they have given liberally to all causes of missions and benevolence.

They have had a line of strong ministers, Dr. Spilman being the first. He was followed by Rev. A. R. Kennedy, President Wilson's brother-in-law, who visited him while here. Then by Dr. S. H. Chesler, secretary of Foreign Missions, Dr. Witherspoon, Dr. J. T. Hendrick, Dr. Russell Cecell, Rev. W. B. McBane, W. O. Cochran, J. C. Malloy, W. W. Akers, R. L. Benn, H. Kerr Taylor and Locke White.

The First Church has also had able and efficient men in their pastorate: Drs. McCampbell and Alderson were present at the June Centennial. Dr. John S. Hays, was one of the strongest ministers in the state, and did a good work here with his school, Hayswood Seminary. In addition to his pastoral work, Dr. Barbour, the present pastor is a son of the church and knows the conditions here as no stranger could know them.

Remembering the separation it is now his privilege to be the agent in bringing together of these important churches.

The prayers and good wishes of our Christian people and citizens generally will attend the career of the church so auspiciously reunited.

CHARLES W. POLLITT
Charles W. Pollitt, aged 25 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Pollitt of New Richmond, Ohio, and nephew of Mayor Thomas M. Russell of this city, died Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Sheltering Arms Hospital at Hanaford, W. Va.

The deceased is well known here, having made Maysville his home until the last few years and was a prominent and well liked young man of promising ability and sterling character. After finishing school here, he engaged in the tobacco business in which he was most successful. He was ill but a few days and the news of his death was a great shock to his relatives and friends here.

The deceased is survived by his parents and three brothers, Messrs. Harry, Fred and Maurice Pollitt.

The remains were brought to this city on the C. & O. train No. 1 Sunday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Russell this afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. W. B. Campbell of the M. E. Church, South. Interment in the Mt. Carmel cemetery.

ELECT OFFICERS
The Center Parent-Teacher Association at the meeting held last Friday afternoon elected the following officers for the ensuing term:
President—Mrs. Sudduth Calhoun.
First Vice President—Mrs. J. T. Mackley.
Second Vice President—Mrs. Laura Newell.
Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. R. B. Lovell.

HIS UNDOING
Woman and "licker" Cause a Negro Chauffeur to Get in Bad Near This City Saturday.

Saturday afternoon Mr. W. O. Blackerby, editor and owner of The Brookville Review came to this city in his six-cylinder automobile on a business mission that terminated in his being made the innocent victim of a great disappointment.

Mr. Blackerby had a negro named Commodore as a chauffeur, and in whom he placed the utmost confidence.

Upon arrival here the negro told Mr. Blackerby that he did not think there was enough gasoline in the tank to run the car back to Brooksville, whereupon Mr. Blackerby gave the negro sufficient money to have the tank filled; and right there was the undoing of all the plans of the owner of the car for a speedy return home.

After cautioning Commodore to be sure and return by 4 o'clock, Mr. Blackerby went about to attend to the business that brought him to this city, and Commodore went about to attend to the business that evidently he had mapped out several days ago at Brooksville, as it was learned later.

Instead of returning with the car, Commodore sought out a place to secure some "licker," which he evidently found, and then he drove to a house on the Lexington pike and got Lucille Jackson, who is a sure enough joy rider, and they went for a drive.

Out on the Germanstown pike they ran across John Cotty and William Brown, two "worthy" colored characters, and what happened there is not exactly known, as several hours after Commodore was fished out of a ditch alongside the road beyond Moransburg, in a semi-conscious condition, with his head and face resembling a clash with the 120-division German army. He was brought to this city and Mr. Blackerby found still waiting for the negro's return to take him home; but nothing could be found of the machine, and all that Commodore knew was that he was positive it was all right, as he had seen it on the road before he was hammered off.

Mr. Blackerby in the meantime had telephoned his son to come and get him, which he did.

The machine the negro had used was found on the pike a short distance from the place where Commodore was fished out of the ditch.

Squire Bauer will hear their troubles this afternoon.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE
The many friends in this city of Miss Laura J. Bryant, who is engaged in Home Demonstration work at Richmond, Va., will read with interest the following item taken from the Times-Rapport of that city of May 15th:

A section of gas piping thrown with terrific force upward by an amateur plumber working with the force at the Second Market, in the alteration of the market for the dehydration plant which is shortly to be installed, narrowly missed by a few short inches in its descent the head of Miss Laura Judd Bryant, assistant home demonstrator of Richmond, who was in this part of the market at the time. The warning to "dodge" which was shouted at Miss Bryant was of no avail, since she was not told in what direction to "dodge," so she stood her ground, and the section of pipe struck her hat brim in its descent.

PREPARE FOR PROSPERITY

The four years following the conclusion of the war are likely to be the most prosperous ever known in the United States, in the opinion of John Wanamaker of New York and Philadelphia. At a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce a letter was read from Mr. Wanamaker, who is at Atlantic City. In part, it read:

"Of course, there will be a jolt and a readjustment when the war stops. But there will be ample supplies of money to conduct business—huge sums of money, the profits of war-making supplies by people all over the United States—which will always remain and be in circulation in the United States."

Mr. Wanamaker's name is a household word throughout the United States.

Why? Because he is America's most successful merchant?

Yes, partly so. But there is a better reason and this reason includes the "why" he is America's most successful merchant.

Mr. Wanamaker's name has appeared in the big newspapers of Philadelphia and New York for fifty years. He built his tremendous business on newspaper advertising. He will tell any inquirer to-day that without resort to intelligent and persistent use of the newspapers he never could have attained either the success or the eminence that attaches to his name.

But did you note what Mr. Wanamaker has to say of prosperity after the war? Mr. Wanamaker is better calculated than most Americans to speak on this subject. Meanwhile, Mr. Wanamaker is preparing to get his part of the benefits when this great era of prosperity strikes.

How? By keeping his business before the public during the war. He gets two results from his present day advertising. In the first place it brings him rich returns in business now, and, on the other hand, his will be one of the great enterprises of the country that the people were not permitted to forget during the war.

If you curtail your advertising because the country is at war you will be behind the procession when the war is over and the big start is taken for the rehabilitation of the commercial fabric of the world.

Note the magazines and newspapers of the country. You will find that the Curtis publishing company is preparing for greater business after the war while getting all they can during the war. How? By enlarging its advertising fund.

You will note that the great tobacco companies of the United States are preparing for all the business they can get after the war and getting all they can during the war. How? By enlarging their advertising appropriations.

You will see, further, that the makers of victrolas and victrola records are spending millions of dollars for advertising during the war.

You cannot have failed to note that the automobile factories, notwithstanding their plants have been giving much space to war orders, are doing more than twice the quantity of advertising they were doing a year ago when the war was but a month old.

With what result? The automobile manufacturers are doing better business than ever before, and the factories that are taking the lead in advertising are getting a hold on the public imagination that will give their cars an enormous sale when the war is over and the big era of enlarged activities on general lines gets in motion.

The merchants who permits his business to be forgotten or take a back seat while the war lasts will be just as many months behind the wide-awake merchant when the war is over as the war was months long.

This is the truth. Ask John Wanamaker, the most successful merchant in the world and the greatest user of newspaper advertising in America.—Huntington Herald Dispatch.

RYA NON THE JOB

There is yet hope. If John D. Ryan made real money the skies will be crowded with these needed instruments to carry war to Berlin in a very short time. The appointment of Mr. Ryan, soon after the selection of Mr. Schwab, proves that President Wilson has heard from the dear "peepul" that they were tired of his inefficiency and wanted men on the job. Let the good work go on and Uncle Sam will not be hampered in the job of shaking the Hun out of his boots.

Postmaster General Burleson, says "The Minneapolis Tribune," is quite enthusiastic about delivering mail by airplanes. Suit a lot of us just as well, though, if he'd work himself up into a bit perspiration about delivering it in the ordinary way.—The Macon Telegraph.

PROGRESS OF BIRTH AND DEATH REGISTRATION IN THE UNITED STATES

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The recent inclusion of Hawaii has extended beyond the limits of Continental United States the area for which the Census Bureau annually collects and publishes death statistics. Within this area now reside about 73 per cent of the total population of Continental United States and Hawaii. It comprises, in all, 27 states, 43 cities in other states, the District of Columbia, and the territory of Hawaii. East of the Mississippi the only states not included are Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Mississippi, and West Virginia, while west of the Mississippi the only states included are California, Colorado, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Utah and Washington.

The annual collection of death statistics from states and cities maintaining adequate registration systems was begun by the Census Bureau in 1902, the first report covering the calendar years 1900 to 1904, inclusive, and for each succeeding year a separate report has been published. The original registration area contained 40 per cent of the total population of the country. It remained unchanged until 1906, since which year it has shown an almost uninterrupted increase in geographical extent and in proportion of total population, until at present it contains nearly three-fourths of the country's inhabitants.

In birth registration highly satisfactory progress has been made during the past two years, although there are a number of states in which adequate death registration prevails but in which the registration of births has not yet reached a sufficiently close approximation to completeness to justify the acceptance of the local records by the Census Bureau. The birth-registration area, as at present constituted, comprises 19 states—the six New England states, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Utah and Washington—and the District of Columbia. This year is estimated to contain about 51 per cent of the total population of the country, as against about 31 per cent when the collection of birth statistics was begun, a little more than two years ago, from an area comprising the six New England states, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

This growth, in so short a time, is very gratifying indeed. It is, however, unfortunate that in the United States the registration of vital phenomena has thus far depended, first, upon adequate state or municipal legislation, and, second, upon the adequate enforcement of that legislation. As a result, some states and municipalities maintain efficient registration systems while others do not. Until the matter is placed under Federal control or supervision it is not likely that reliable birth and death records, approximately completeness, will come into existence throughout the entire United States. Since the military registration of June 5, 1917, the desirability of maintaining such records has become apparent to all.

VOYAGES PROVES CONCRETE SHIPS EQUAL TO STEEL

Washington, May 18.—An official report today on the behavior of the Concrete ship Faith during her second trial trip off the Pacific coast, in a strong wind and choppy sea, says the vessel is believed to be fully equal, if not superior, to any steel ship of the same size and equal power. The Faith soon will undertake her maiden voyage with cargo.

The Faith made 0.1 knots. Despite rocking, the absence of vibration was declared to be "very noticeable."

Scientific instruments observed by experts of the shipping board, showed that the vessel withstood a maximum range longitudinal stress amidships of 1,200 pounds per square inch in steel deck and bottom.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays, overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

Compare Your Baby's First Four Years With This

In 1913 little Marie was born in a village not far from Mezerles, in the Ardennes.

In 1914 Marie's father, called to the colors, fell at the Marne. And Marie and her mother stayed in the village, which was now in the Germans' hands. In 1915 a poster was pasted up on the door of the village church, and that night Marie's mother vanished, along with a score or more of other women.

In 1916 Marie was still living in that village—existing through the charity of the few elderly folk the Germans permitted to stay.

In 1917 Marie, with all the children under fourteen years and all the old people left alive in the village, was huddled into a crowded car and shipped into Germany, round through Switzerland and thence into France, arriving at Evian. She was underfed, of course, emaciated, sickly, dirty, too lightly dressed for the time of year. And she came into Evian with not a relative, not a friend left in all France to take care of her.

Who took her? Your Red Cross! Over there in Evian your Red Cross took charge of her, cared for her in the Red Cross Children's Hospital, clothed her, fed her, built up her strength, taught her to play—and then helped the French authorities and her HOME.

Multiply Marie by 500 and you will have some idea of just one day's work your Red Cross does at Evian. It is only one of the Red Cross activities in France, to be sure—but for just that one alone can you help being proud of it? Can you help being glad you are a member of it, supporting its great work of humanity? Can you help wanting it to go on helping the Maries and the "Grand-daddies" that come in at Evian?

THE TRAIN THAT SAVED A NATION

How the Red Cross Helped Roumania.

Have you heard of what happened in Roumania when that stricken nation stood in rags and starving before the shocked eyes of the world? We had thought ourselves grown used to tragedies until this greater horror struck a blow that "rouled" still untouched sympathies.

And yet we felt so helpless, you and I, so terribly weak in our ability to offer aid. But were we? After all, were we not the very ones who carried new life and hope to the heart of Roumania? You shall be your own judge.

Fighting with the desperation of despair, the shattered Roumanian army still struggled to beat off the Kaiser's bloody Huns, who were mercilessly trampling the life out of the little kingdom. And the Kaiser smiled brutally as he saw his wolves at work and knew that from behind the lines, attacking the fighting men of Roumania from the rear, entering the homes where mothers clung to the frail, distorted forms of their babies—was starvation.

No country around Roumania could help her—and America was too far away. Thousands would die before supplies held in our own country could be sent her.

Hope was gone. Death by hunger and by the dripping sword of the Kaiser was closing in. A brave little nation was being torn to pieces.

Then came the miracle. One morning the streets of Jassy, the war capital of Roumania, swelled with sounds of rejoicing. A city where the day before there was heard nothing but the wails of the starving and the lamentations of those mourning their dead now was awakened by shouts of joy.

You, my friend; you who have helped in the heroic work of the American Red Cross, had gone to the rescue of Roumania. A train of 31 big freight cars packed to their utmost capacity with food, clothing and medicine, tons upon tons of it, had arrived in Jassy after making a record breaking trip from the great store houses of the American Red Cross in Russia. Other trains followed it; thousands were fed and clothed and nursed back to health. For weeks and even to this day the brave people of Roumania are being cared for in countless numbers by our own Red Cross.

So was Roumania helped, and when history records how this last fragment of a sturdy nation was kept out of the hands of the terrible Hun it will give the victory to your American Red Cross.

A CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

A urgent call for volunteers for the navy for the duration of the war has been issued by the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station for the state of Kentucky, 412 S. Fourth Street, Louisville. The nation is now making a drive for 80,000 men to "help keep the road to France open", and land our troops in safety on the other side. Kentucky's quota of this 80,000 has been set at 2,000. These men are needed at once for immediate training and service.

"The navy has every attraction that will appeal to a young man," said Lieut. J. H. Teach, officer in charge of the recruiting station. "A chance for real fighting, an entire lack of monotony, and an opportunity to serve their country in a trade in which they are skilled. I have often wondered why it is that sailors are always happy. In all my experience I have never found a discontent. I think that the reason for this is the fact that men are put at an occupation that they like and consequently at something they do well. They keep happy, do good work, and the nation is served that much better. Every attempt is made to place men in that branch of the service where they are fifty or more different branches—in which the recruit is best fitted by education, training and temperament to succeed.

Men from 18 to 35 years old are eligible for enlistment in the navy. They must be of good moral character, of sound physique, at least five feet, four inches tall, and weigh in most instances not less than two pounds to the inch. Some slight physical defect we are sometimes able to waive.

"If a young man under the draft age wants to join the navy, the first thing for him to do is to secure an age certificate made out by a parent or guardian, stating the correct date and place of his birth, and have it properly witnessed by a recruiting officer or by one of the following public officials of the community in which the parent resides; viz: Notary Public, Justice of the Peace, Commissioner of Deeds, Postmaster or other

GOOD CAUSE FOR ALARM

These Figures Will Make Maysville People Take Notice.

Deaths from kidney disease have increased 72% in twenty years. People overdo nowadays in so many ways that the constant filtering of poisoned blood weakens the kidneys. Beware of fatal Bright's disease. When backache or urinary ills suggest weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills, live carefully, take things easy and avoid heavy eating. Doan's Kidney Pills command confidence, for no other kidney remedy is so widely used or so generally successful. Home endorsement is the best proof of merit. Read this Maysville resident's story:

Miss Dora Edgington, Wood St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and from the results received, I have every reason to recommend them. At times my kidneys have become weak and have been irregular in action. My back has ached, too, and has been very weak and lame across my kidneys. When I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for this trouble, they have never failed to relieve the complaint, in a short time. I gladly advise anyone to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Chandler's Drug Store, if troubled in that way."

Miss Edgington is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the name that Miss Edgington had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. "When Your Back Is Lame—Remember the Name."

L. S. Officht, Mayor, Sheriff, Chief of Police, an officer of the Court, Alderman, Constable, Marshal, Pastor of a Church or School Superintendent. He should then proceed to the nearest recruiting station, Ashland, Covington, Lexington, Owensboro, or Paducah, and there make application. If he passes the preliminary tests, he will be forwarded to government expense to the main office here at Louisville, where he will be given a final examination and be sworn in, and then sent to one of the naval training stations.

"If a man is of draft age, he should secure from his local draft board, a release to permit him to enlist in the navy, and then proceed to the nearest recruiting station, where the same procedure will be gone through. "Either this office or anyone of the sub-stations will be glad to give further information either in person or by mail, and there will be no obligations attached to such inquiries."

FRIGHTFUL ARC RAY WEAPON.

Dazzling swords of fire more deadly than the highest explosive followed by annihilating explosions that leap into the skies will be the forerunners of the "canned" lightning, science's newest weapon of war, that it is claimed, will blast out Germany's aid and hope and chance of victory and world supremacy.

An Italian scientist is credited with having discovered a means of concentrating and reflecting electric rays in such a manner as to produce the results above described. It is reported that this inventor has proved to representatives of his government that electric current could be concentrated and directed in rays and made to arc at varying distances from the point of control. He is said to have offered to demonstrate his idea in whatever way the officials indicated, but that he dare not make experiments in the city of Rome, because of the danger attending the use of this extraordinary power.

Mr. M. F. Randall, in describing in the Illustrated World the results of these tests, says that, outside the city, the inventor was told first to burn through a three-inch hardwood plank. "In an instant," says Mr. Randall, "this plank was seared and broken, as if it had been struck by lightning. "Next, he was ordered to explode two bombs, one hidden somewhere on the bank of the Tiber, the other in the bed of the stream. Within ten minutes the bomb concealed along the bank was exploded. It required much longer to locate and explode the one sunk in the river, but this, too, was finally accomplished. The entire outfit used by this Italian inventor is said to have been placed on a single small barge."

Mr. Randall says that an approximate idea of the power of arcing electricity may be obtained by watching an electric furnace at work. It will cut the hardest steel as if it were putty. To flash such a flame through an airplane, submarine, battleship or a trench, he says, would leave a wreck in place of a fighting machine.

This writer also points out other uses for controlled lightning. Mine sweepers equipped with this device could fire mines thousands of yards distant and eliminate them as defensive weapons. These hidden terrors could be exploded over extensive fields without, in any instance, injury being done to even the smallest sweeper.

On land the arc ray would form a most successful barrage, and could wipe out the defenders of trenches with unerring certainty. Thrown from large tractor-type airplanes of from big fighting air-cruisers, the enemy's position would be made untenable.

"In the face of these arcing rays," says Mr. Randall, "transportation of food, of ammunition and other supplies above ground would be made impossible. The weaker aers thrown from battleplanes would be sufficient to fire an ammunition train, while the strongest ones, if reflected from the big land batteries, would explode the most carefully protected magazines." In the following description Mr. Randall paints a vivid picture of what would happen with this machine in action: "In a few moments every enemy airplane or any fleet of them—no matter what their numbers—would fall to earth, in crumpled wreck! At the touch of a button, a lance-like bolt of electricity would suddenly shoot forward with inconceivable speed, accompanied by a tremendous clap of thunder. And what a moment before had been a soaring airplane would be a flaming mass, and the instant, a few charred parts dropping to earth like a burned-out rocket.

"In holes or craters in 'No Man's Land' a scout could lurk with his deadly weapon, connected by wires with the generators and the concentrators behind his lines. When the enemy charged, he could sweep the whole line as they passed him and annihilate each successive wave of infantry."

Mr. Randall says that few electrical engineers in this country care to declare arbitrarily whether or not all or any part of this can be accomplished, but in this connection he quotes as follows the chief engineer of one of the largest electrical concerns in the world:

"I can say that I know this has been done or will be done—but I don't dare suggest that it cannot be done. We can reflect light and heat and rays of other kinds—why cannot this too be accomplished?"

"This much we all know—that once this problem is solved there will be no more war. If the allies were possessed of equipment that would permit the arcing at a distance of powerful electric currents the war would be won in 30 days, and our troops could march unchallenged into Berlin."

"This much we know, too. War has always been a contest of wits and mechanical genius. Armor was invented to meet the attack of sword and spear, and it was applied to battleships and land vehicles to stop shot and shell; the gas mask was devised to combat the horrors of chlorine; sound detectors and nets to protect ships from submarines, and so on down the years of military history, each new weapon has brought forth another to neutralize the deadly effect of the first Combined German ingenuity has put into the field the most fiendish machines of destruction the world has ever known, and they are today directed against our men now at the front.

"Why is it not possible, then, to produce a weapon more terrible than any so far created—a weapon so powerful in its destructive force that it would annihilate whole armies and fleets on the sea and in the air, and sever this endless chain of life-taking ideas which are constantly being brought forward?"

WHERE TO LEARN ABOUT SURGICAL DRESSINGS

Detailed instructions in the making of surgical dressings is not given at the National Red Cross headquarters, but through the directors of the 13 territorial divisions. Mrs. John Moorehead, who directs the Surgical Dressings Division of the Chapter Production of the Red Cross, says:

"There are two types of women to whom I should like to give a message. One is the worker in the Red Cross workshop and the other is the woman of the general public. To the woman who is making surgical dressings in the workshop I want to explain that the many changes that are necessary from time to time in the making of surgical dressings are due to the improvement of the surgeons' technique in France. The surgeons change their demands for certain types of dressings because they are learning more and more about surgery. Changes in small details are inevitable.

"The surgeons in France send samples of what they require. The national Division, a surgeon, tests these and decides what is the most economical and efficient way of making them

Economy in packing cases and cutting material is also taken into consideration. Directions are given to the heads of our territorial divisions, and they superintend the work in their departments.

"To the woman of the general public I should like to make clear that detailed information about surgical dressings is not furnished at the National Red Cross headquarters. These instructions are given by the directors of the 13 territorial divisions. Such an enormous manufacturing organization as we have to be divided in this way, and our policy is that all directions should come from territorial heads.

As a general thing, to speak of a woman as a saint isn't the same as calling her an angel.

YOUR RED CROSS

An Army Without a Gun

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON
Of the Vigilantes.

THE Red Cross is the greatest instrument of mercy the world has ever seen. Noble as the service of mercy and helpfulness was in Civil War days, the Red Cross surpasses it immeasurably not only in the range and variety of its effort, but in efficiency and effectiveness.

The Red Cross is, we may say, the arms of the mothers of the world reached out to their sons to bind up their wounds and comfort them. The Red Cross is an army without a gun that wages war only upon suffering and heartache. Where the flag of the stars goes there the banner of the Red Cross must fly beside it. We watch our boys go forth to war with a spirit of hopefulness because we know that this great agency of humanity presses close behind them; that its work is not incidental, but the intelligent directed effort of one of the most marvelous organizations ever contrived by American genius.

We have all contributed to the Red Cross; we shall be called upon again to contribute to its funds,—again and perhaps again. And we will respond again and yet again! For this is a war for the defense of civilization, and we of great, free, splendid, glorious America, have every intention that it shall be fought with the army of the Red Cross solidly supporting our soldiers.

STRETCHING PARIS TO MEET THE NEEDS OF FRANCE

THE RED CROSS HAS HELPED WHERE GOVERNMENTS WERE HELPLESS.

The avalanche of refugees that swept into Paris from the north of France had been the despair of the civil authorities. These homeless, starved people were a new responsibility to be added to the thousands of wounded men that came steadily from the shambles of the west front.

Paris is an old city. It was not ready to take in its neighbors' children. Its population was already a tight fit. So it made the best of its poor hospitality by offering up its garrets. New building construction seemed impossible. Men were scarce. The mechanic was still mending the trenches or fighting the fight in the war factories. Paris was distracted.

It is wonderful indeed how nobly Paris tried to meet this condition. And it is remarkable how Paris met it with the aid of our own Red Cross. Unhindered by red tape or precedent, our Red Cross put on overalls and jumper, carried the hod, became architect, engineer and contractor and went into the building of homes. Here was a church lot that lay vacant; here an unfinished hospital; there a worn out

OLD SETTLERS CELEBRATION

Will Be Held at Ruggles Camp Grounds, Lewis County, on the Fourth of July—Edwin P. Morrow to Be Main Speaker.

The program committee of the Old Settlers' Association of Mason, Fleming and Lewis counties had a meeting Saturday in this city for the purpose of making arrangements for the biggest Fourth of July celebration the Association has ever had. The celebration will take place at the usual place, Ruggles Camp Grounds in Lewis county. The star attraction this year will be the address of the Hon. Edwin P. Morrow of Somerset, Ky. The Association is certainly to be congratulated on securing Mr. Morrow for this occasion. His reputation as an orator is unsurpassed. Then he is immensely popular with all parties and peoples. This was proven conclusively at our last gubernatorial election when he gave Governor Stanley such a close race. It's a safe guess that Old Ruggles Camp Grounds will be taxed to its capacity to hold the people who will spend the Fourth there this year.

The Rev. J. D. Redd, one of Kentucky's leading pulpit orators will also speak on that occasion. With two such notable speakers those who attend will not go away disappointed. Patriotism and our part in the Great War will be the keynote of the day. And there isn't a finer place in Kentucky or finer people to meet and speak to than will be there that day.

The Germantown Brass Band has been secured to furnish the music. This organization has improved wonderfully and will have fourteen splendid musicians well equipped to furnish patriotic and martial music. The Association has engaged Mr. E. E. Clark of this city who has gained somewhat of a reputation as a decorator as well as a typewriter expert, to decorate the tabernacle and speakers platform for the occasion.

Col. W. H. Thomas, president of the Old Settlers' Association, is working on some other special features that will be announced later. Col. Thomas can be depended upon to see that this is the crowning year of his presidency of the Association.

Mr. George W. Royle of The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company is in Maysburg on business today.

The Maples For Sale

Mr. R. K. Hoeflich, on account of his daughter's health, is moving to Edgemont, and has placed his beautiful East End home, "The Maples," in my hands for sale.

House has 11 rooms, with bath and all modern conveniences; large Colonial porch; 1 1/2 acres of ground, beautiful lawn, and splendid garden; Stable, Garage and other outbuildings.

There is comfort and rest in the very design of The Maples, and I do not hesitate in recommending this property to you as a typical American home, and it must be seen to be appreciated.

If interested call and I will be glad to show you the property.
